

#186 A Letter of Gratitude to My Home

 thelifeofmine3.wordpress.com/2024/12/08/188-letter-to-my-home/

December 8, 2024

Dear Home,

I wanted to take a moment to write to you my refuge. You may just be a place made of walls and rooms but to me you are so much more. You are the place where I feel safe where I can rest and be myself without judgment.

Through all the ups and downs the laughter and the quiet moments you have been there providing warmth and comfort. When the world outside feels too overwhelming, it's your embrace that brings me peace. You hold my memories both the joyous ones and the ones that are bittersweet.

I don't always take the time to appreciate you as I should but I want you to know how much you mean to me. You are the place where I've grown, learned and found solace. The walls that have witnessed my tears have also held my hopes and dreams.

Thank you for being the steady place I can always return to. Thank you for holding me together when the outside world feels chaotic for offering comfort when I need it most.

With gratitude,
Shalo